SATURDAY, MARCH 16, 1867.

The remains of Mr. Wm. N. Bullitt whose lamented death we mentioned the other day, arrived here from New Orleans n Thursday evening, accompanied by his afflicted widow. The funeral ccremonies took place yesterday evening at the residence of Dr. Wilson, and all that was lies buried at Cave Hill. Wm. N. Bullitt, as we have said, was born in Louisville, a member of one of the oldest and most honored families of the country, and he grew up here to the full trime of manhood. He was, in the highest sense of the word and in every sense of the word, a gentleman. We have never known a more thorough model, a more perfect ideal, of that character than he. He was accomplished in his manners. genial. gentle, and kind in his disposition. open-handed in his charities, and as purehearted, high-hearted, and large-hearted a man as God ever gives to earth. Ilis neart ever beat true to "the sad music o smanity." There is not a bad quality hat he possessed, not a good one that he acked. He was regarded by all as the coul of truth and honor and fidelity and enevolence. He never failed to serve a riend, and he never had an enemy to be harsh word was ever spoken by him or of

The death of such men as Wm. N. Bul tt is a loss to the world. But such drop away at times "like golden links from a broken chain." From the New York World.;

SACRAMENTO, CAL., Jan. 9. I have been sojourning in this town-the capital of the State-for a few days, and while here have gathered a number of very interesting items of information rela-tive to the Central Pacific Railroad, which road will form the western half of the great continental railroad that, stretchin; over plain and valley, over the Rocky and Sierra Nevada ranges of mountains, will unite the Atlantic to the Pacific coast and reduce the time taken to make the journey between them from twenty-two lays to about ten days.

Although ever since the early discovery of gold on this coast the subject of a conental railroad has been agitated in ngress, and the necessity for it admi ted, yet so great was the desire for diffe ent sections to possess it, and so ardenil did each press its claim for possessing th est route, that the Government be pewildered on the subject, and for some line it was questionable whether the road would be built at all. But at last the Cen-tral Pacific Railroad Company of Califor-nia triumphed, not through over reaching but through the now universally admitted tact that the route they selected was by lar the best and most practicable one, and their desire to build the road on this side e most earnest and determined. But ter they triumphed in Washington they had another battle to wage here with the Sacramento Valley Railroad Company, which with its friends now proclaiming with stentorian voices that their route vi-Placerville and Lake Tuhoe was the best and most practicable over the Sierras, and promised the greatest profits. The Central Company, whose route is by Dutch Flat and Donner Lake, seeing that capital was being divided when it should be united in the great work, and with the object o making theirs beyond all perudventure the route, bought the Sacramento Valley Railroud Company, which road has come to a standstill fifty-five miles from Sacramento, while the Central Pacific Road is being rushed along enstward as fast as an in-dustrial army of some teu thousand men, with all the necessary weapons and mate rial, can make it.

The road was commenced in 1863, bu

opposition and other drawbacks hampered its progress greatly. It is now finished, and the becomotive is running ninety-three miles eastward from Sacramento to Cisco station. This is within twelve miles of the dreaded summit of the Sierras. By far the most difficult part of the road has now been built; that from the summit down the mountains eastward will be com-paratively easy, and the grade light. This paratively easy, and the grade light. This part of the road can be built ten times more rapidly and about as much more cheaply than that already done. All the hard work came at first when the company were struggling with not a sea only, but seas of opposition, and while the funds in their treasury were not as plenty as eir treasury were not as plenty as Had this road fell into the hands of speculators it would probably never have been built, but it was taken hold of by a number of the richest and most enterprisug meu in the State. They have given it and are still giving it all their time, their energies, and their influence, and above all, their money. All the county, State, and national monetary aid that was re-ceived has been thrown into the work; and this terrible earnestness that has charac terized its managers was what silenced at its former greatest detractors are now its warmest friends. And it was no senti-mental wish alone to see the road com-pleted that made its owners give to it so rishly. They know well the great present trade and the yet comparatively unde-veloped resources of the extremely rich country that is waiting for the develop-ment that the road will give; and they

The road thus, with its equipment the fact head the salt lake to reduce the salt Lake the papers and the salt lake to reduce the salt Lake the papers and the salt lake to reduce the salt lake the salt lake to reduce the salt lake the sa thus far, has cost about $9,000,000, and before it is entirely fluished to the State line, 156 miles from Sacramento, it will cos about $2.000,000 more. These figures tell the story of what difficulties had to be overcome. Ilad not the numost carefulstacle: and it might have been had not the company inaugurated a new industrial weapon by using Chinamen, of whom they employ some $,000, at $30 per month. In addition to the profits that will flow to the Central Pacific Railroad Company from the running of their road, the im-mense landed grants of Congress will have placed in their possession milions of acres of as fine agricultural and timber lands as can be found within the limits of the United States, from which they will draw vast revenues. Nevada is almost destinate of timber, and, even for firewood, $15 per cord has to be paid by the wood. $15 per cord has to be paid by the mining companies, and for the more valuable, used tor timbering the mines and other purposes, from $10 to $30 per cord is charged in Virginia City. The amount required for timbering a mine may be guessed when I state that it has been repeatable asserted and never contradicted that and be equal in dimensions to some of the edly asserted, and never contradicted, that to timber the Gould and Curry mine took more lumber than was used to build Virginia City, a town of frame houses that accommodates 15,000 inhabitants. Ail the timber required by the State of Nevada can be supplied by the railroad company for at least fifty years, and the income they will derive from this source alone will

It was thought at first that the deep srows of winter would greatly impede travel upon the road in the Sierras, if it did not actually suspend it. But the ancinated trouble from this source has eas been overcome by snow-ploughs and aning parties, although very heavy falls indeed have occurred this winter. I have been three times over the roud—once in last January, in deep snow, again in July and a third time this week. On my second trip I had a very good opportunity to see the work thoroughly, and can testify that it is built in first-class style throughout, and my winter trips have convinced

To Captain Kierforts, who arrived here last evening direct from East Tennessee, we are judeleted for further particulars relative to the great inundation which has proved so disastrous to life and property in that section. Captain Kierforts, in company with seven other gentlemen, left Chattanooga Tucsday morning, on board the steamer

Cherokee, the regular packet from that point to Bridgeport. Arriving at that place, they were necessarily compelled by the severing of all railroad communication, to take a circuitous route over the monntains to reach Anderson station, on the Nashville and Chattanooga road, where they took the cars for Nashville.

Ile states that the Tennessee has risen fourteen feet higher than was ever known before higher than was ever known. efore; but at the time of his departure from Chattanooga it had experienced a decline of about twenty inches. The roling mill, Government ship-yard, and many of the largest mercantile houses on the bank of the river, are swept away, or totally destroyed. The water was up to the second story of the Crutchfield House, and boats are continually passing to and fro. A MAN CARRIES A BULL RUN BULLET IN HIS BRAIN AND DON'T MIND IT.—The Milwaukee Wisconsin notices a remark-able case in which a bullet passed into the brain of a man who yet lives in apparently good health. It appears that Ole Eversen, a Norwegian, about nineteen years of age, a privute of Cumpany K, 24 Wisconsin infantry, was wounded in the head by a rifle ball on the 21st of July, 1861, just as he was entering the battle of 1861, just as he was entering the battle of Bull Run. He was taken prisoner and carried to Richmond, and there attended by Dr. James M. Lewis, the surgeon of his ciment, who had also been captured Dr. Lewis and several rebel doctors de-cided that any attempt to remove the ball, which had plainly lodged in the brain, would end fatally, and therefore contented themselves with dressing the wound, which soou healed up, although it would open at intervals and discharge a good deal of offensive matter. After a year's imprison-ment the man was exchanged, went home and to work on a farm, where he seemed to get entirely well. A year afterward he re-enlisted, served during the remainder of the war, and is to-day on his farm, hale and hearty, with every prospect of a long life before him, and feeling no further ill effects from the bullet in his brain than an occasional headache.

From the Milwaukee Sentine!, March 1st. A Veritable Fish Story - Boy Prigged Several Blocks a correspondent at Belmont, that a mar riage took place there on the 31st ult. Through the Water by a Fish.

Fish stories are proverbially discreditable—so funch so, that, when we manage to get hold of a good one, we are almost loth o tell it for fear that our statements may be laughed at. However, despite this, we will relate an incident which happened yesterday, and which was told us by a genleman whose veracity we have never had ceasion to doubt.

It seems that a number of men and boys were at work almost opposite the Detroit and Milwankee depot, when one of the number saw an enormous sturgeon swiming near the surface of the water by the dock. The party armed the selves with poles and other weapons, wha boy named Patrick Nolan procured out book and resolved upon the capt out into the river, jerking him from his footing into the icy water. The boy held on to the boat hook and was dragged with great velocity out into the middle of the stream, and then out towards the lake.

The spectators, meanwhile, were atmost paralyzed with terror. They were power less to help Nolan, and could only look on and see him dragged through the water y a monstrous fish at a rate of speed cx reeding that of the fastes; row boat. They alled to him to release his hold of the boat hook, but be, either too much terrified to heed, or not being able to hear ching fast to it as if it was his only hope of life. The monster fish, maddened by pain, and terrified by the load he wadragging, lashed the water into flakes o foan as he sped outward toward the great lake near stating in his mod correct Danh as he speed onward toward the great lake, never staying in his mad course. Death seemed the only fate awaiting the boy, nud one or two of those on shore knelt down and implored the mercy of Heaven upon his soul as he fast recoded from their sight—probably forever. Providentially, however, a couple of fishermen, who were in a boat near the straight cut, saw what had transpired, and although nable, at that distance, to understand th full nature of the affair, intercepted the course of the fish. But there's many aslip twixt the cup and the lip; for, just as they were about to grasp the almost inanimate form of the lad the fish changed its ourse, and the body escaped from their hands. They commenced a pursuit, however, and being stout and skilled oarsman and the fish having somewhat slackene-its speed, they succeeded, after a chase o about hall a block, in grasping the la-and lifting him into their boat, while the sturgeon passed on into the lake. boy fell fainting in the bottom of the boat, and was taken home, almost dead from terror and the chill of the water. Had e remained in the water only a few nents longer his life would have paid orfeit of his attempt to deprive one of any tribe of its existence THE IMPORTANCE OF A SINGLE LIFE.

Probably very few persons are aware of the incalculable importance of a single life the present situation of public affairs Yet upon the chances of one life will de-pend, so far as can now be foreseen, whether the series of measures which have een forced upon the country shall re eive the sanction or anthority or the c emnation of law. Knowing the co the United States in the conflict betwee themselves and the President, Congre at its last session passed a law for the re-duction of the number of judges from nine to seven, forbidding any new appoint ments, in case vacancies occu the happening of vacancies, the limit of seven judges is reached. It is well known that the Supreme Court now consists of nine judges, five of whom entertain opin-ions, as expressed in late decisions, utter-ly at war with the scheme of military ad-ministration which the Sherman military power of Congress to erect military tri unals in the Southern States under war power. Of the five judges who adhere io the ancient, clear, and well-settled principles of right and constitutiona erty, two or three are aged and feeble them, while the minority is composed of young, robust men, the new appointees, with one exception. The death of any one of the majority would make a tie in the Supreme Courtupon the essential principles of the Charles would prevent the court from pr the bill unconstitutional. The veto of the l'resident being overridden by a two-thirds vote of Congress, and the Supreme Court thus divded, there remains no constitu tional instrumentality by which to escape from the tyranny of its operation. Let single oue of the five judges die and the consequence is that every citizen of the Southern States, in life, liberty, and property, is at the unchecked mercy of military tribunals. How frail, then, is the barrie between right and unlicensed n day, any hour, may remove this last im pediment, and then all further power o peaceful resistance to the enci circumstances can the direct question on the act itself be raised and decided in this tribunal before next winter, the chan ces of failing, in one or more of those lives is fearfully increased. With a sagisty Congress saw and calculated these contin gencies, and provided for the advan-tage which may llow to them from their happening. They knew that, while the appointing power was with the President, would place in that court men whose api ions were in harmony with the teachin of the fathers of constitutional nor could they remove from office mer whose known tide lity to right was an ob-stacle to their political devices. But the conning device of reducing the number of ludges, as death from time to time create a vacancy, has nothing in its ward form to violate the law or to the public sentiment; yet its probable practical effect will be utterly revolution mry and disastrons. Such then is the val-ue of one single life, and that of a feeol rights of mankind, or establishing an granny over ten milions of pe Oiling the Sea.-An experience I se captain writes to the New York Herall that he has been at sea 28 years, and master of a vessel for the last ten years, and during that time he has saved the vessel under his command twice by oiling the sea. He writes that "when the master of a ship cannot get out of a storm— that is, when a ship is disabled and he has to take the helt of the gale—it he has oil on board, start two or three gallons over the side of the ship. This will give the ship smooth water to the windward, and then the oil allowed to ran drop by drop is all that is required, for as soon as the sea comes in contact with the oil it backes, and the ship is in smooth water as long as the oil is allowed to run. In 1861. n the leaviest gale of wind I ever saw lost all my sails, then the ruller: and know the vessel could not have ridden the sea for an hour if it had not had it on board. Five gallons of oil lasted me filty-six hours, and thus saved the vessel, cargo, and lives on board. Let ships of heavy tonnage have two iron tanks of forty gallons each, one on each side, with faucet so arranged that the oil can be strrted at any time; small vessels, ten gallon tanks, and all ship's boats tanks of five gallons each, well filled, so that in case the ship tounders or burns, the boats will have oil to smooth the sea in case of a gale. With these tanks of oil on board ships and a good man for master-on o knows the laws of storms and hand les his ship so as to get it out of the cen-tre of the storm, you will have no more undering of good ships at sea, nor the oss of many lives and millions of money

THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC. - The Friday night custom of our people was not forgotten last night. The Academy was pretty well erowded with a fashionable audience. We are glad to see that the better class of our theater-goers so generally recognize the chaste and classic character of the Buislay performances. There is no sufficient reason why they may not attended by our mothers, wives and aghters. The exhibitions are altogether within the scope of high and califying art, devoid of all immodest show. If we for a ment thought there was anything unchaste in the dancing, contortions, or pantomime of the Buislays, we should ondemn it unhesitatingly. These uurivalled performers remain at the Academy another week, in order to give the immense throng of strangers that will be atracted hither by Madame Ristori an opportunity of witnessing their pleasing enertainments. The usual Saturday matinee will be given this afternoon, and a performance at night.

TELECRAPHIC NEWS.

FROM WASHINGTON. New York, March 15.

The Herald's special says information from Richmond, received in this city to night, represents that Gen. Schofield's order assuming command of Virginia as Military Governor gives entire satisfac-tion. It was read in the Honse of Dele-gates and referred, after considerable de-bate, to the Committee on Federal Rela-ions.

The Senate was actively employed in a solitical discussion on the Wilson bill.
Senators Ould, McRae, Trout, Mercer, blineon, and Keene have returned to chmond from Washington, having, as is reported, partially accomplished the passage of the Wilson bill in the United States Senate, which was the object of their Political movements are in progress all over the State of Virginia. Lonenburg, Mecklenburg, Fredericksburg, Williamsburg, and other counties have, by a popular voice, called a State Convention under the Sherman bill.
